

Quality Assurance Associate

TMQA is a family-owned business with an international reputation for delivering expertise and bespoke quality solutions to the life sciences industry. As an Associate you will be working within a small team. The culture of the company is supportive, where everyone has an opportunity to grow and develop and provides the flexibility for work to fit in with your own life goals. We believe in training and developing our people who, in return, have the opportunity to help develop the company's future direction.

The Role

TMQA has a vacancy for an Associate within its expanding Quality Assurance team. It will suit candidates who wish to develop a career in research Quality Assurance and who want the challenge of addressing quality issues in a range of different situations and companies.

The role will provide support for our broad client base engaged in discovery and development in the life sciences. It will involve a range of activities including inspecting and auditing clients' activities and reports, reviewing their quality management systems and helping them to implement or improve their procedures.

Requirements

The person is more important than the qualification. Candidates should have a degree (or equivalent) in a scientific discipline. Experience working in a Medical Device, 'GxP' (GLP, GMP, GCLP) or ISO (e.g., ISO9001, ISO17025, ISO13485, ISO15189) environment would be an advantage but is not essential.

You will need to be self-confident, have the ability to work on your own initiative and be comfortable working with people at all levels within our clients' organisations. A flexible and creative approach to problem solving is important as you will be able to apply principles of quality management to various situations. You will require to be able to work both independently and in a team.

Location

The position will be based in our Edinburgh office. There will be some travel involved which may include overnight stays.

Benefits

In addition to a competitive salary and flexible working conditions you will be joining an organisation with an international reputation for excellence and tailored career development opportunities.
